GENERAL INFORMATION

HardaSuka is one of the most difficult triathlon competitions in the world. Each competitor should get familiar with the present rules and regulations and make sure that their health condition and training level enable them to finish the competition, before they take the decision to take part in the competition. The running route is technically very demanding. It leads through difficult mountain routes of the Western Tatra and the High Tatra Mountains and it includes sections of big height differences, significant exposure and a lot of loose stones. The weather conditions may be very changeable. The Organizer recommends experience in competitions of Ironman distance and/or experience in ultra runs.
